DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-43 are allowed over the prior art of record.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Applicant has claimed uniquely distinct features in the instant invention which are not found in the prior art either singularly or in combination of a method for providing contextual information to a user of a windows based computer environment, said method comprising opening a window having a user interface; and manipulating a context control feature of the user interface to determine a first context of the window corresponding to at least a first perspective of one or more perspectives for viewing and manipulating one or more objects, with each object of the one or more objects having one or more object capabilities within the window, wherein the first perspective presents a filtered view of at least one of the one or more object capabilities of the one or more objects corresponding to the first perspective. These features are not found or suggested in the prior art.

The present invention is directed to manipulating a context control feature of the user interface to determine a first context of the window corresponding to at least a first perspective of one or more perspectives for viewing and manipulating one or more objects, with each object of the one or more objects having one or more object capabilities within the window, wherein the first perspective presents a filtered view of at least one of the one or more object capabilities of the one or more objects corresponding to the first perspective. Each independent claim is identified "each object of the one or more objects having one or more object capabilities within the window, wherein the first perspective presents a filtered view of at least one of the one or more object capabilities of the one or more objects corresponding to the first perspective". The closest prior art Goldman and Hardikar discloses a conventional context list of context identifiers is maintained by the window creation mechanism for each window either singularly or in combination fail to anticipate or render the above underline limitations obvious.

5. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
